to their respective homes. The case of George W. allen of Washingtonville against Harry A. Roth of Salem, which was the first jury case assigned for hearing at Lisbon will necessarily go over to a later date in the term. When the case was called the defendant was not ready to go ahead, so the court gave permission to file his second amended ans-wer as soon as possible. The case is one of the old ones on the docket, and its trial will recall the time when Columbiana was "dry," and the saloon business was flourishing in Washingtonville, just across the county line. Allen leased property in Mahoning county to Roth under a lease which Roth claims was conditional in the event that Columbiana county voted wet. Allen claims that he owes him $585,33 under the lease and wants judgment for the amount together with costs. The case was tried in the common pleas court in February 1914, when a verdict was rendered in favor of Roth. It was then taken to the court of appeals where the finding of the common pleas court was reversed and the case remanded.
